India is an agrarian country and more than 60% of population depends on agriculture for their livehood.

India ranks second worldwide in farm economy as per Indian economy survey.

in various scenario in india.

crop production analysis 1997-2021 Development of crop production

india's agricultural

See an example

condition of farmers during this young generations.

Major role of crop production

This document clealry shows how agriculture contributes to a country's GDP.

This data heps to analyze about major crops produced in india.

In this database we can analyze major crops that are cutivated in india.

How to use!

physical factors affecting agriculture in India mainly include climate, soil, terrain, and topographical location.

poverty and illiteracy of the farmers prevent them from making large scale capital investment and adopting scientific measure.

Uncertain water right and supply with lack of insfrastructure.

curremt agricultural status

Disadvantages